Impartiality Statement

InTIC is committed to conducting all certification activities with integrity, impartiality, objectivity, competence, confidentiality and independence.

InTIC recognizes that impartiality is essential to provide credible and trusted certification services. We are committed to identifying, evaluating and managing actual, potential and perceived risks to impartiality arising from our activities, relationships and other sources of conflict of interest.

InTIC's certification decisions are based solely on objective evidence and applicable certification requirements and are not influenced by commercial, financial, personal or other pressures.

InTIC maintains appropriate safeguards to ensure that certification activities are independent from management system consultancy and other activities that could compromise impartiality. Personnel, auditors and external resources involved in certification activities are required to disclose any conflicts of interest and to act objectively and professionally.

InTIC protects the confidentiality of information obtained during certification activities and ensures that certification services are provided in a fair, consistent and non-discriminatory manner.

InTIC's top management accepts overall responsibility for the impartiality of certification activities and is committed to maintaining and continually improving the effectiveness of arrangements for safeguarding impartiality.

InTIC will not compromise impartiality for commercial, financial or other interests and will take appropriate action whenever a threat to impartiality is identified.
