For the purposes of applicable data protection and privacy laws, including the Digital Personal Data Protection Act, 2023, Director, InTIC may act as the organisation responsible for determining the purposes and means of processing personal data collected through the Website.

2. Personal Information We Collect

Depending on how you interact with the Website, we may collect information that you voluntarily provide to us, including:

- Full name;
- Company/organisation name;
- Job title or designation;
- Email address;
- Telephone or mobile number;
- Postal or business address;
- Information provided through enquiry, contact or registration forms;
- Information relating to your interests or requirements;
- Event, webinar, training or service registration information;
- Feedback, comments or other information you choose to provide; and
- Any other information you voluntarily submit to us.

We may also automatically collect certain technical information when you visit the Website, such as:

- IP address;
- Browser type and version;
- Device type;
- Operating system;
- Date and time of access;
- Pages visited and links accessed;
- Referring website or source;
- Approximate location derived from technical information, where applicable; and
- Other website usage, diagnostic and log information.

We may collect some of this information through cookies and similar technologies.

3. How We Use Your Personal Information

We may use personal information collected through the Website for purposes including:

1. To respond to your enquiries, requests or communications;
2. To provide information about our products, services, activities and events;
3. To process registrations for events, webinars, training programmes or other activities;
4. To provide, administer and improve our Website and services;
5. To communicate with you regarding your requests or interactions with us;
6. To send newsletters, updates or marketing communications where permitted by applicable law and in accordance with your preferences;
7. To understand how visitors use our Website and improve its content, functionality and user experience;
8. To maintain the security, integrity and availability of the Website;
9. To detect, prevent and investigate fraud, misuse, security incidents or other unlawful activities;
10. To comply with applicable laws, regulations, legal processes or governmental requests;
11. To establish, exercise or defend our legal rights; and
12. For other purposes that are disclosed to you at the time your personal information is collected or for which we otherwise obtain your consent where required.

We seek to collect and use only the personal information that is reasonably necessary for the relevant purpose.

4. Legal Basis for Processing

Where applicable, we process personal information in accordance with the requirements of applicable privacy and data protection laws.

Depending on the circumstances, processing may be based on:

- Your consent;
- Your request for information or services;
- Our contractual or pre-contractual obligations;
- Compliance with a legal or regulatory obligation;
- Certain uses permitted by applicable law; or
- Other lawful grounds available under applicable law.

Where processing is based on consent, you may withdraw your consent in accordance with applicable law. Withdrawal of consent will not affect the lawfulness of processing carried out before withdrawal.

5. Information Submitted Through Forms

If you submit information through a contact, enquiry, registration, feedback or other online form, we will use the information for the purpose for which it was provided and for related administrative purposes.

For example, information submitted through a "Contact Us" form may be used to respond to your enquiry, communicate with you about your request and maintain appropriate records of our communication.

Please do not submit confidential, sensitive or unnecessary personal information through Website forms unless specifically requested and appropriate for the relevant service.

6. Marketing Communications

Where permitted by applicable law, we may contact you by email or other communication channels regarding InTIC services, programmes, events, publications, news or other information that may be relevant to you.

Where consent is required, we will obtain your consent before sending marketing communications.

You may opt out of marketing communications at any time by using the unsubscribe mechanism included in our communications or by contacting us using the details provided below.

Please note that opting out of marketing communications may not prevent us from sending necessary administrative, transactional, security or other service-related communications.

7. Cookies and Similar Technologies

Our Website may use cookies and similar technologies to:

- Enable essential Website functionality;
- Remember user preferences;

- Understand Website usage;
- Measure Website performance;
- Improve Website functionality and user experience; and
- Where permitted, support analytics or other Website services.

Depending on applicable law and the type of cookie, we may request your consent before placing or using certain cookies.

You may be able to manage cookies through your browser settings and/or our cookie preference mechanism.

8. Analytics and Third-Party Services

We may use third-party technologies and service providers to help us operate, secure, analyse or improve the Website.

These may include website hosting providers, analytics providers, communication platforms, form providers, content delivery services and other technology providers.

Where third parties process personal information on our behalf, we take reasonable steps to require them to process the information only for authorised purposes and to maintain appropriate security measures.

[Third-party services used by InTIC may include, Google Analytics, Microsoft Clarity, WordPress, etc.]

9. How We Share Personal Information

We do not sell your personal information.

We may share personal information where reasonably necessary with:

- Relevant InTIC employees, teams or affiliated entities;
- Service providers and technology partners that support our Website or business operations;
- Professional advisers, auditors and consultants;
- Government authorities, regulators or law-enforcement agencies where required or permitted by law;
- Parties involved in legal proceedings or the protection of our legal rights; and
- A successor organisation or relevant parties in connection with a merger, restructuring, acquisition, sale or other corporate transaction, where applicable.

We require third parties that process personal information on our behalf to handle such information appropriately and in accordance with applicable contractual and legal requirements.

10. International Transfers

Depending on the technologies, service providers and business arrangements used by InTIC, your personal information may be processed or stored in countries other than the country in which you are located.

Where personal information is transferred across jurisdictions, we will take appropriate measures to ensure that the transfer and subsequent processing comply with applicable privacy and data protection requirements.

11. How Long We Retain Personal Information

We retain personal information only for as long as reasonably necessary to fulfil the purposes for which it was collected, provide requested services, maintain appropriate business and transaction records, comply with legal or regulatory obligations, resolve disputes and establish or defend legal claims.

The applicable retention period may vary depending on:

- The nature and purpose of the information;
- The relationship between you and InTIC;
- Whether you have an account or ongoing engagement with us;
- Applicable legal, regulatory or contractual requirements; and
- The need to establish, exercise or defend legal claims.

When personal information is no longer required, we will take reasonable steps to securely delete, destroy or anonymise it, subject to applicable law.

12. Security of Personal Information

We take reasonable technical, organisational and administrative measures designed to protect personal information against unauthorised access, use, alteration, disclosure, loss or destruction.

These measures may include appropriate access controls, authentication procedures, security monitoring, secure systems and employee awareness and training.

However, no method of transmission over the Internet or method of electronic storage can be guaranteed to be completely secure. You should therefore take appropriate precautions when transmitting information online.

13. Your Privacy Rights

Subject to applicable law and any applicable conditions or exceptions, you may have rights relating to your personal information, including the right to:

- Request information about the personal information we process about you;
- Request correction or updating of inaccurate or incomplete personal information;
- Request deletion or erasure of personal information where legally applicable;
- Withdraw consent where processing is based on consent;
- Opt out of certain marketing communications;

- Raise a grievance or complaint regarding our handling of your personal information; and
- Exercise any other rights available to you under applicable privacy and data protection laws.

To exercise your rights, please contact us using the details in the Contact Us section.

We may need to verify your identity before processing certain requests in order to protect your information and prevent unauthorised access.

14. Children's Privacy

The Website is not intended to knowingly collect personal information from children except where such collection is permitted by applicable law and appropriate consent or authorisation has been obtained.

If you believe that a child has provided personal information to us without the appropriate consent, please contact us so that we can take appropriate action.

15. Links to Other Websites

Our website may contain links to websites, applications or services operated by third parties.

This Privacy Statement does not apply to those third-party websites or services. We encourage you to review the privacy notices applicable to any third-party website before providing personal information.

InTIC is not responsible for the privacy practices, content or security of third-party websites.

16. Changes to This Privacy Statement

We may update this Privacy Statement from time to time to reflect changes in our services, technologies, business practices or applicable legal and regulatory requirements.

When we make changes, we will publish the updated Privacy Statement on this page and update the "Last Updated" date above.

We encourage you to review this page periodically to remain informed about how we protect your personal information.

17. Contact Us

If you have any questions, concerns or requests relating to this Privacy Statement or the handling of your personal information, please contact us through Contact us tab of website:

For requests relating to your personal information, please include sufficient information to help us identify your request and verify your identity where necessary.

We will handle privacy requests and complaints in accordance with applicable law and our internal procedures.
